1. Introduction. The first results on multi-component and high entropy , , , , crystalline alloys were published in 2004, about 12 years ago. The two major, new concepts of this approach include opening a vast, unexplored realm of alloy compositions and the potential to influence solid solution phase stability through control of configurational entropy.

A critical review of high entropy alloys and related

Mixture fraction describes the essential mixing process of the fuel and the oxidizer in the non-premixed configurations and its definition here is based on coupling functions of element mass fractions using Bilger's weight factors , . The progress variable is designed so that it can capture the ignition and the reaction progress of the diffusion flame in a monotonic way.
